The 21st-century world is changing at an accelerated pace. It is a challenge for educators to cope with this dynamic world order and prepare students for the future. DVN has continually adapted to these changes since its inception and has catered to the growing needs and aspirations of society, particularly in North Coastal Andhra. The institution has always aimed to inculcate creativity, critical thinking, innovation, and value-based learning among its students. Throughout the year, DVN organizes a wide range of activities to bring out the innate abilities of all learners.

As the Principal of DVN, I feel honored and privileged to be part of an educational institution where every stakeholder is a learner, and every day is an opportunity to learn and discover. We look at ourselves as a community that grows together, where students, faculty, parents, and staff contribute equally. We believe in upholding high standards with a firm commitment to improving the educational process, using collaborative strategies while keeping student development at the core.

"Spreading Eco-Friendly Traditions – Inspired by Sri Dadi Ratnakar."

Dear Readers,
We hope you've enjoyed getting to know more about our college, DVN. Now, let us take you through how we joyfully and responsibly celebrate two of our most cherished festivals – Vinayaka Chavithi and Deepavali.

CELEBRATING Festivals the Eco-Friendly Way at DVN College

At DVN, we believe in celebrating traditions with a modern, eco-conscious approach. Every year, we encourage our students to observe Vinayaka Chavithi in an environmentally friendly manner. Instead of Plaster of Paris (POP) idols, we guide students to craft clay Ganeshas and diyas, using only natural clay and water-based colors. This initiative not only nurtures creativity but also instills a strong sense of responsibility toward environmental conservation.

A special highlight this year was our Chairman, Sri Dadi Ratnakar, personally distributing clay idols of Lord Ganesha to students. He also encouraged them to share these eco-friendly idols with the community, spreading awareness and setting an example for environmentally responsible celebrations.

🪔 "We believe festivals are not only for celebration, but also for reflection and responsibility." 🪔

To inspire more participation, we conducted competitions for idol and diya making. The winners were honored with prizes and certificates, and the event saw enthusiastic involvement from both mentors and mentees. Our Principal, K. Ramesh, along with the Chairman, appreciated the efforts of the organizers and the heartfelt involvement of the students.

This year's Deepavali was not just a festival of lights but a celebration of enlightened thinking. We used the occasion to symbolically bid farewell to the "Narakasurudu" within society—such as addiction to mobile games like Free Fire, drug abuse, harmful thoughts, ragging, and harassment. These negative influences must be eliminated just like the mythical demon king, to pave the way for a brighter, kinder future.

We welcomed Deepavali with new thoughts that support our environment and uplift our society. It was a reminder that festivals are not just about rituals, but about renewal, reflection, and responsibility.

We look forward to sharing more such inspiring stories and initiatives with you. Until then, stay eco-conscious and socially aware.

Deepavali – Lighting the Way to a Cleaner, Kinder Society

"Let's light lamps of awareness, not crackers of pollution. Let our celebrations bring harmony to the environment and society."

INDUSTRIAL VISITS

As a part of our institution's commitment to experiential learning, students from various departments embarked on insightful industrial visits, enriching their academic journey with practical exposure and real-world interactions.

Life Sciences Department

The Life Science students visited the Regional Agricultural Research Station (RARS), Anakapalli, where they explored a variety of crop species and agricultural practices. The students also had the opportunity to observe modern agricultural instruments and technologies used in research and farming. This visit provided them with a broader understanding of agricultural advancements and crop management techniques.

Physics and Electronics Departments

Students from the Physics and Electronics departments visited the MSME (Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises) unit at Atchuthapuram. During the visit, students learned about the functioning of MSMEs, the process of starting new ventures, and the development of projects. The session was highly motivating and informative, especially for those aspiring to become entrepreneurs or innovators in technology and applied sciences.

Institution's Innovation Council (IIC)

As part of the IIC curriculum, students visited the famous Anakapalli Bellam (Jaggery) Market, which holds the distinction of being ranked second in the world for sugarcane jaggery production. This visit offered students valuable insights into the marketing strategies used by local farmers, traders, and buyers. It highlighted the journey of jaggery from farm to market, emphasizing aspects of rural entrepreneurship, supply chain, and consumer dynamics.

These industrial visits not only complemented the theoretical knowledge of our students but also inspired them to think critically, innovate, and explore future career paths. Such initiatives continue to bridge the gap between academia and industry, preparing our students for a dynamic world beyond the classroom.

My name is Harshitha, and I studied B.Sc. During my time at DVN, I learned much more than just academics—it taught me how to live, how to manage life's challenges, and how to respect elders. I developed many valuable skills, including the confidence to face interviews fearlessly. Today, I am proud to be placed in a top company, and I owe this achievement to DVN. Thank you for shaping who I am.
